Asociatia Nameless Art was excited to host the 4th international event of the NOTKSIP project and bring together all the 6 EU project partners, educators, civil society actors, and civic engagement experts for an inspiring meeting focused on democracy, participation, and youth empowerment.

The day was opened with a warm welcome from the project manager of the association, Ms. Iulia Gabriela, followed by dynamic sessions covering:

- Project progress & the NOTSKIP Training Curriculum
- The CERV Programme and its role in civic participation
- Volunteering as a driver for active citizenship
- Schools as key actors for democratic inclusion
- Local awareness-raising campaigns & partner feedback

Within the meeting, the participants explored the online world by attending a podcast training realized by the influencer Inas Ali. After, another session was addressed to the co-creation of the NOTSKIP Recommendations.

Insightful discussions, strong collaboration, and shared commitment helped us move one step closer to empowering young people and strengthening democratic values across Europe.

Special thanks goes to Mrs. Oana Balutescu from the CERV Programme for her valuable contribution, insights, and continuous support in promoting civic participation across Europe.
